

INCOME TAXATION OF CORPORATIONS

INTRODUCTION AND STUDY OBJECTIVES

Corporations, except for corporations electing to be taxed under Subchapter S, are taxed on their gross income less certain deductions and credits. In general, the computation of taxable income for a corporation is similar to that of an individual—even though some corporations are entitled to special deductions not available to individuals. Upon initial examination of an entity, problems sometimes arise in determining whether or not an organization is taxable as a corporation. Classification as a corporation depends upon a number of corporate characteristics. As a result, corporations for tax purposes may include entities that were established under state law as some other form of organization.

In studying the income tax rules of corporations, the student should have these objectives:

1. To learn the definition of a corporation for Federal income tax purposes.
2. To comprehend the manner in which certain items are treated at the corporate level as compared to the treatment of a similar item at the individual level.
3. To understand how the corporate income tax is computed and to become familiar with the related filing requirements.

STUDY HIGHLIGHTS

OVERVIEW OF BUSINESS FORMS

1. Businesses can be operated as sole proprietorships, partnerships, or corporations. More businesses are operated as proprietorships, however, due to the fact that it is the simplest form available—both personally and legally as well as for tax reasons. For tax purposes, proprietorship ordinary income and deductions are reported on Schedule C (or Schedule F for farms) of the individual proprietor's tax return, Form 1040.
2. Like the sole proprietorship, partnership income receives conduit treatment. Essentially, the partnership never pays tax on its income, but the income (or loss) flows through to the partners and receives tax treatment on the partners' tax returns.
3. The Code also provides an election for certain closely held corporations, known as S corporations, to be taxed as a conduit. Therefore, like a partnership, the income (or loss) flows through to the shareholders.

Example. During the current year, J Company receives tax-exempt interest, which is distributed to its owner. If J Co. is a regular corporation, the distribution to the shareholders is a dividend, even though it originated from tax-exempt interest. On the other hand, if J Co. is a partnership or S corporation, the tax-exempt interest will retain its identity and pass through to each individual partner.

4. Section 11 imposes a tax on all domestic and foreign corporations, whether their income comes from foreign or domestic sources. While the overall taxation of corporations is similar to individual taxation, several important differences exist. Many of these differences are found in the manner in which certain categories of income are taxed and in the method used to calculate taxable income.

WHAT IS A CORPORATION

5. Section 7701(a)(3) defines the term corporation to include associations, joint-stock companies, and insurance companies. Because of the broad definition, taxpayers have had to rely on court decisions and Regulations to help clarify its meaning—especially for associations. The Regulations define associations as having the following characteristics:
 1. Associates;
 2. A profit motive;
 3. Continuity of life;
 4. Centralized management;
 5. Free transferability of interest; and
 6. Limited liability.

To test to see if an entity is taxed as a corporation, common attributes of the comparing entity are disregarded and a majority of the remaining characteristics means the entity is a corporation.

Example. X, a professional partnership, possesses the attributes of centralized management, continuity of life, and free transferability of interest. In determining whether the entity is a partnership or a corporation for tax purposes, the first two attributes are ignored (associates and profit motive), and the remaining four are examined. Since X satisfies three of the remaining four attributes, it is treated as an association and therefore is taxed as a corporation even though it may actually be a partnership under state law.

6. State-registered limited liability companies (LLCs) are a relatively new form of business entity. A properly structured LLC is taxed as a partnership for federal income tax purposes, but its members, like corporate shareholders, are not personally liable for the entity's debts and liabilities. An LLC is taxable as a partnership if it lacks two or more of the corporate characteristics listed in 5 above. Most LLCs that are classified as partnerships are found (under their operating agreements and the applicable state statutes) to lack the corporate characteristics of continuity of life and free transferability of interests.
7. Final check-the-box regulations were issued along with new Form 8832, Entity Classification Election that must be filed when making a choice of entity. The check-the-box entity classification has yielded a drastically simpler entity classification system. The new Form 8832 should be used by entities that choose not to be classified under the default rules or that wish to change their previous classification.
8. If a corporation has no real business or economic function, it may be considered a sham or dummy corporation. Generally, the IRS, and not the taxpayer, is allowed to disregard the status of the corporation.
9. Certain partnerships, known as publicly traded partnerships (PTP) will be treated and taxed as regular corporations. A PTP is a limited partnership organized after December 17, 1987 and is traded on an established securities market.

COMPARISON OF CORPORATE AND INDIVIDUAL INCOME TAXATION

10. A corporation computes its income tax liability in the following manner:

	Economic income
–	Statutory exclusions
	Gross income
–	Deductions
	Taxable income before special deductions
–	Net Operating Loss
–	Dividends-received deduction
	Taxable income
×	Applicable tax rates
	Tax liability

11. Although some differences do exist for exclusions, the definition of gross income is the same for both corporations and individuals. Corporations, however, do not have adjusted gross income (A.G.I.). That is a concept unique to individual taxation. Generally, with few exceptions, all deductions for corporations are trade or business deductions.
12. Corporations are entitled to a special deduction for dividends received from other corporations. In general, the deduction is equal to 70 percent of the dividend, but limited to 70 percent of taxable income (computed without regard to the dividends-received deduction) for corporations that own less than 20 percent of the dividend-paying corporation. If the corporation owns at least 20 percent (but less than 80 percent) of the dividend-paying corporation, however, the dividends-received deduction substitutes 80 for the 70 percent figure. A special rule exists to bar the taxable income limitation and allow the entire 70 (80) percent deduction without limit. It occurs if the 70 (80) percent, when taken, creates or adds to a net operating loss. For 1987, the deduction for dividends received from all other unaffiliated corporations was 80 percent across the board. Prior to 1987, the deduction was 85 percent.
13. The dividends-received deduction is 100 percent for dividends received from other corporations in the same affiliated group.
14. The Jobs Act of 2004 modified §195 and §248 to allow taxpayers can elect to deduct up to $5,000 of start-up expenditures in the tax year in which the business begins. The $5,000 immediate write-off is phased out for each dollar of start-up costs in excess of $50,000. The remainder of any start-up expenditures must be amortized over a 180 month period beginning with the month in which the business begins.

Example If N corporation incurs $23,000 of organization expenses, it could deduct $5,000 and amortize the remaining balance of $18,000 over 15 years (180 months) beginning in July. This would result in amortization of $100/month for 180 months. Organization expenses for the year would be $5,600 computed as follows: First year deduction $5,000 + $($18,000/180 = 100/\text{month} \times 6 \text{ months}) 600 =$ Total organization expense deduction in the first year of $5,600.

15. Computing the net operating loss for corporations is different from that of individuals. A corporation does not adjust its tax for capital gains and losses. It also does not make adjustments for nonbusiness deductions or personal exemptions. The loss is carried back 2 years and forward 20. An election is available to forego the carryback period so that the net operating loss is only carried forward. Various disaster relief provisions often modify the carryback period for selected areas of the United States that experience natural disasters.

16. A corporation is entitled to a deduction for its charitable contributions. A contribution deduction of ordinary income property is normally limited to basis. However, a special rule exists for contributions to the aid of ill, needy, elderly, or infants. In this case, the deduction is basis plus half of the appreciation. Appreciation is defined as fair market value less cost.

Example. B, a corporation that manufactures batteries, donates some of its inventory [FMV of $12,000; cost of $5,000] to the Red Cross to be used in their motorized wheelchairs. B's deduction (before percentage limitation) would amount to $8,500 [$$5,000 + \frac{1}{2}$ of $($12,000 - $5,000)$].

17. Long-term capital gain property is generally taken at fair market value. However, if the contribution is made with tangible personal property, unrelated to the exempt organization's function, the deduction is limited to fair market value less the appreciated value, essentially the basis. The same reduction of fair market value is required for contributions of any property to a private foundation.
18. A corporation is limited to the amount of its contribution deduction. The limit is 10 percent of taxable income without regard to:
- the dividends-received deduction
 - net operating loss carrybacks
 - capital loss carrybacks, and
 - the charitable contribution deduction itself.

Any contribution that is in excess of the 10 percent amount is carried forward for five years.

19. A corporation determines its capital gains and losses in the same manner as other taxpayers. However, some differences in the tax treatment do exist. Instead of an exclusion (similar to those received by individuals prior to 1987), corporations are entitled to an "alternative tax" on its "net capital gain." This technique is only used if the tax is less than the regular tax. Effective July 1, 1987 the alternative tax rate became 34 percent. The limited loss deduction of $3,000 is not allowable to corporations. Thus, a corporation can only use capital losses to offset capital gains. Excess capital losses are carried back three years and forward five years. All carrybacks are treated as short-term capital losses.
20. Beginning in 1991, Congress capped an individual's long-term capital gains tax rate to 28 percent, which is less than the 31 percent rate on ordinary income. Congress did not extend this equivalent treatment to corporations. Thus, a corporation's capital gains may be taxed at the corporation's highest tax bracket.
21. In 1982, Congress added § 291 to the tax law to reduce the benefits of ACRS depreciation on real property. As a result of this section, a corporation must treat as ordinary income 20 percent of any § 1231 gain that would have been ordinary income if § 1245 had applied as opposed to § 1250.
22. Under § 267 corporations are not allowed to deduct losses incurred in transactions between related parties. The 1986 Tax Act expanded the definition of a related party to include employee-owners that own any of their personal service corporation. In addition, the character of gain can be reclassified from capital gain to ordinary income in transactions between shareholders owning more than 50 percent of their corporation.

COMPUTATION OF THE CORPORATE TAX

23. Beginning in 1993, Congress raised the top rate applying to corporate taxpayers to 35 percent, but only for those corporations that have taxable income in excess of $10,000,000. The current rate structure is as follows:

$	1	–	$	50,000	@	15%
	50,001	–		75,000	@	25%
	75,001	–		10,000,000	@	34%
	10,000,001	–		15,000,000	@	35%

24. Once a corporation reaches a taxable income threshold of $15,000,000, Congress elected to phaseout the 34 percent benefit on the first $10,000,000. This $100,000 benefit (i.e. $10,000,000 @ 1%) is phased-out by adding 3 percent to the tax rate until the $100,000 is recovered. Thus, between $15,000,000 and $18,333,333 the tax rate becomes 38 percent. At $18,333,333 the tax rate drops back to 35 percent. Thus:

$15,000,001	–	$18,333,333	@	38%
18,333,334	–	—	@	35%

25. To restrict the tax benefit of the lower graduated rates, the TRA of 1986 added a surtax on all corporations whose taxable income exceeds $100,000. The additional tax is 5 percent of all income in excess of $100,000 until such time that the $11,750 tax savings on the lower bracket amounts is phased out. This, in essence, causes corporations whose taxable income is between $100,000 and $335,000 to be taxed at a marginal rate of 39 percent after 1987. Once a corporation's income exceeds $335,000, the corporate tax is a flat rate of 34 percent until it reaches $10,000,000. Thus:

$100,001	–	$335,000	@	39%
-----------	---	-----------	---	-----

26. Corporations whose principal activity is the performance of services are known as personal service corporations (PSC). PSCs must use a calendar year and are not entitled to use the lower bracket amounts in determining their income tax liability (i.e., they must use a flat 34 percent rate).
27. Corporations often fall into a category known as a controlled group of corporations. A controlled group consists of parent-subsidiary corporations, brother-sister corporations, and combined groups. When a controlled group exists, all the corporations comprising the group are limited to a single lower bracket rate for the entire group. The combined tax would be the same as if the entire group filed as one corporation. If an election to apportion the lower bracket amounts is not made, the Internal Revenue will make a pro rata allocation.
28. The 2004 Jobs Act amended the definition of a brother-sister controlled group by deleting the 80 percent test, leaving only the 50 percent test.

Example. Individuals X and Y own the stock of B and S corporations as follows:

Shareholder	Percent owned		Common Ownership
	B	S
X	76	54	54
Y	0	26	0
	76	80	54

With the deletion of the 80 percent test for Corporations B and S, the corporations are now considered component members of a brother-sister controlled group. Under the pre-Jobs Act changes, this ownership would not have qualified for controlled group status.

29. Like individuals, some corporations are subject to the alternative minimum tax. The tax is computed at a rate of 20 percent on all alternative minimum taxable income (AMTI) in excess of $40,000. This $40,000 exemption is phased out once AMTI exceeds $150,000 at a rate of 25 percent. Consequently, the exemption is completely eliminated once AMTI exceeds $310,000. A corporation will only pay the alternative minimum tax when this tax exceeds its regular tax liability. (A comprehensive problem follows the study questions.)

Example. B Corp. has AMTI of $180,000 before the exemption amount. Since the exemption amount must be reduced by $7,500 [25% ($180,000 – $150,000)], the amount remaining becomes $32,500 ($40,000 – $7,500). Thus, the tax base for the AMT will be $147,500 ($180,000 – $32,500). Note that the exemption will phase out entirely when AMTI reaches $310,000.

30. The Tax Reform Act of 1986 significantly expanded the tax base subject to the alternative minimum tax. This tax base is expanded by adding certain tax preference items to AMTI. Section 57 sets forth the tax preference items and specifies each calculation. However, first year corporations and small corporations are exempt from this tax.
31. To alleviate the possibility of a double tax under the new alternative minimum tax computation, Congress introduced an alternative minimum tax credit. Generally, the alternative minimum tax paid in one year may be used as a credit against the corporation's regular tax liability in a future year. This credit can be carried forward indefinitely until used. The credit may not be carried back, nor may it be used to offset a future minimum tax liability.

CORPORATE TAX FORMS

32. A corporation files its information on a Form 1120. The return must be filed by the fifteenth day of the third month following the close of the corporation's tax year. An automatic extension of six months can be received by filing a Form 7004; however, the estimated balance of the tax must be paid with the extension. In essence, the extension is only granted for preparing the tax return and not for deferring the payment.
33. Similar to individual taxation, corporations are required to prepay their tax liability (including any estimated AMT liability) and file estimated tax forms. The estimates are due on the fifteenth day of the fourth, sixth, ninth, and twelfth months. If estimated taxes are not paid or, if paid, they are underestimated, the corporation may be subject to a penalty. There are two exceptions available to waive the penalty. However, neither of those exceptions is available to corporations with taxable income in excess of $1 million.

STUDY QUESTIONSTrue or False

- _____ 1. Unlike a corporation, a partnership is a conduit and its income is taxed to the respective partners.
- _____ 2. An organization may be treated as a corporation for Federal tax purposes even though it is not a corporation under state law.
- _____ 3. A dividend from an affiliated corporation owned more than 80 percent is entitled to a 100 percent dividends-received deduction.
- _____ 4. A corporate net operating loss may be carried back three years and forward five years.
- _____ 5. The alternative tax computation for corporations still applies to the “net capital gain” of the corporation.
- _____ 6. Corporations are entitled to the 28 percent long-term capital gain tax rate.
- _____ 7. More businesses are operated as corporations than any other form.
- _____ 8. Corporations may amortize and deduct organizational expenditures ratably over a period of not less than 40 years.
- _____ 9. Corporations A and B each have taxable income of $100,000. If they are members of a controlled group, their aggregate tax liability will be lower than the sum of their tax liabilities if they are not members of a controlled group.
- _____ 10. Ignoring exceptions, to avoid a penalty for underpayment of estimated taxes, at least 100% of the corporation’s tax due for the year must be paid as estimated taxes.
- _____ 11. If a corporation realizes a long-term capital loss during the year that cannot be used in that year, the loss will retain its character when carried to another year.
- _____ 12. If a corporation does not elect to amortize organizational expense, the expense may not be utilized until the corporation undergoes a liquidation.
- _____ 13. Personal service corporations are always taxed the same as other corporations.
- _____ 14. A corporation with a fiscal year ending April 30 must file its tax return by June 15, provided that date is not a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday.
- _____ 15. A corporation will receive an automatic extension of time for filing a return by submitting an application for extension on Form 7004 and paying the tax due by the due date for the return.
- _____ 16. Members of a controlled group of corporations must, in the absence of any other agreement, allocate the use of the lower bracket tax rates to all the members of the group equally.
- _____ 17. The net operating loss deduction for a corporation’s tax year is the sum of net operating loss carrybacks and carryovers to the tax year plus the net operating loss for that tax year.

- _____ 18. If a corporation's capital losses exceed its capital gains, it may elect to carry the capital losses forward for seven years instead of carrying them back three and forward five years.
- _____ 19. Mr. T owns 100 percent of the outstanding voting stock of Corporations A and B. Corporation B, in turn, owns 90 percent of the outstanding voting stock of Corporation Z. Corporations A, B, and Z are all members of a controlled group of corporations.
- _____ 20. To apply for a quick refund of prior years' taxes due to a net operating loss carryback, a corporation must file Form 1139 (Corporate Application for Tentative Refund) no later than 12 months from the due date of the loss year tax return.

Multiple Choice

1. Ten individuals form an organization to conduct business and share profits. The organization has provided for continuity of life, centralized management, and limited liability of its owners. It also allows individuals to maintain free transferability of interest. How will this organization be taxed?
- _____ a. As a partnership.
b. As a trust.
c. As a joint venture.
d. As an association.
e. As a personal holding company.
2. T, a newly formed corporation, elects to use a calendar year end. On July 1, 2006 the corporation incurred $6,800 of qualified organizational expenses. Assuming the company started business on July 1, 2006, what is the maximum allowable deduction for calendar year 2006?
- _____ a. $0.
b. $680.
c. $1,200.
d. $5,060.
e. $6,000.
3. Which of the following is not considered an organizational expense that is amortizable on a corporation's tax return?
- _____ a. Fee paid to the state for incorporation.
b. Printing fee for stock certificates.
c. Accountant's fees incident to the organization.
d. Legal fees for drafting the bylaws.
e. Temporary director's fees.
4. For the period ended December 31, 2006, T Corporation has income of $160,000 from operations and dividend income of $100,000 from unaffiliated domestic corporations in which it owns 25 percent. Business deductions for the year amounted to $170,000. Based upon this information, calculate the dividends-received deduction for 2006.
- _____ a. $0.
b. $72,000.
c. $80,000.
d. $90,000.
e. None of the above.

5. Which of the following receipts will qualify for the dividends-received deduction?

- _____ a. Dividends from an FSC.
b. Dividends from a mutual savings bank.
c. Dividends from a real estate investment trust.
d. Dividends from a tax-exempt corporation.
e. Dividends from a taxable domestic corporation.

6. Which of the following contributions made by T Corporation would be deductible for federal income tax purposes?

- _____ a. $5,000 to Harvard University's scholarship fund.
b. $5,000 to the American Cancer Society.
c. $5,000 to Friends of Fish, a Canadian charity.
d. Only (a) and (b) are deductible.
e. All of the above are deductible.

7. For calendar year 2006, R Corporation had taxable income of $280,000 before deducting charitable contributions. The dividends-received deduction was $34,000. R made cash contributions of $35,000 to qualified charities. What is the 2006 deduction for contributions?

- _____ a. $28,000.
b. $31,400.
c. $32,000.
d. $35,000.
e. None of the above.

8. M Corporation had taxable income for 2006 of $40,000 before deducting contributions to charities. During 2006, it gave $5,000 in securities (basis of $1,000) to a qualified charity. M had a contribution carryover from 2005 of $1,000. What is M's contribution deduction for 2006?

- _____ a. $1,000.
b. $2,000.
c. $4,000.
d. $5,000.
e. $6,000.

9. In 2006, its first year of operation, C Corporation had a gross profit from operations of $360,000 and deductions before any special deductions of $500,000. C also received dividends from unaffiliated domestic corporations in which it owned 50 percent of $100,000. What is C's net operating loss for 2006?

- _____ a. None during first year.
b. $32,000.
c. $40,000.
d. $60,000.
e. $120,000.

10. How will a long-term capital loss of a corporation be treated in a carryback or carryover year?

- _____ a. As a long-term capital loss.
b. As a reduction of ordinary income.
c. As an offset against both ordinary income and long-term capital gains.

- d. As an offset against both ordinary income and short-term capital gains.
- e. As a short-term capital loss.

11. Which of the following items should not be reflected on schedule M-1 of the corporation's tax return, Form 1120?

- _____
- a. Officers' life insurance premium (corporation is the beneficiary).
 - b. Federal income taxes.
 - c. Differences in book and tax return depreciation.
 - d. Pension plan deductions.
 - e. None of the above.

12. In computing a corporation's taxable income, a net capital loss is treated as follows:

- _____
- a. Deductible in full in the year sustained.
 - b. Never deductible in the year sustained.
 - c. Limited to a maximum of $3,000 in the year sustained.
 - d. Limited to 50 percent of the net loss in the year sustained.
 - e. None of the above.

13. Corporation Y's taxable income for 2006 was $100,000 which was figured by taking into account a charitable contribution deduction of $12,000. What is the correct contribution deduction?

- _____
- a. $5,000.
 - b. $5,600.
 - c. $10,000.
 - d. $11,200.
 - e. $12,000.

14. Corporation B incurred net capital losses of $5,000 in 2003, $10,000 in 2004, and $6,000 in 2005. These losses could not be carried back. In 2006, Corporation B had a net capital gain of $8,000. How much of the capital loss carryover to 2007 originated in the 2003 tax year?

- _____
- a. $0.
 - b. $2,000.
 - c. $7,000.
 - d. $8,000.
 - e. $10,000.

15. Determine Corporation Q's 2006 net operating loss based on the following information.

Income from operations	$1,200,000
Dividends from domestic corporations (30% owned)	300,000
Business deductions	1,400,000
Net operating loss carryover from 2005	200,000

- _____
- a. $0.
 - b. $100,000.
 - c. $140,000.
 - d. $280,000.
 - e. $340,000.

16. During the year Corporation P had a loss from operations of $10,000 and received qualifying dividends from 15 percent owned domestic corporations in the amount of $90,000. P's taxable income is $80,000 before the deduction for dividends received is considered. Determine P's dividends-received deduction.

- _____ a. $56,000.
 b. $64,000.
 c. $70,000.
 d. $80,000.
 e. None of the above.

17. For its taxable year ending December 31, 2006, T Corporation has the following taxable income and deductible expenses:

Gross income from operations	$205,000
Deductible expenses of operations	218,000
Dividends received	35,000

The dividends were received from a taxable domestic corporation in which T owns 15 percent of the stock (not debt-financed). What is T Corporation's dividends-received deduction for 2006?

- _____ a. $0
 b. $15,400
 c. $21,000
 d. $24,500
 e. $35,000

18. Corporations A, B, and C are taxable domestic corporations. All are members of an affiliated group. Corporation A pays a $50,000 dividend to B and a $50,000 dividend to C. Corporations B and C are each entitled to a dividends-received deduction of:

- _____ a. $35,000.
 b. $40,000, subject to the taxable income limitation.
 c. $50,000.
 d. $0.
 e. None of the above.

19. Q Corporation has taxable Income of $300,000. What is Q Corporations tax liability for the year?

- _____ a. $102,000
 b. $101,500
 c. $100,250
 d. $90,250
 e. None of the above

20. Z Corporation had 2006 taxable income of $600,000 before considering the following:

Gain on the sale of equipment	$ 15,000
Loss on the sale of equipment	(29,000)
Gain on the sale of land used in the business	70,000
Loss on the sale of investment held five months	(5,000)
Loss on the sale of investment held two years	(18,000)

1-12 Income Taxation of Corporations

The equipment sold at a gain originally cost $150,000, and $90,000 of depreciation had been claimed. What is Z Corporation's taxable income for 2006?

- _____ a. $618,000
b. $633,000
c. $647,000
d. $671,000
e. $685,000

Fill In the Blanks

COMPREHENSIVE ALTERNATIVE MINIMUM TAX PROBLEM

Facts: Assume that T, a calendar year corporation, has pre-tax accounting income of $400,000, as reported on the audited financial statement for 2004, its first year of operation. In addition, the following information is available:

- Nonessential municipal bond interest of $40,000 was earned during 2004 (nontaxable for regular tax but includible for AMT).

- Two asset purchases were made during the year (no § 179 election is made):
 - A heavy duty truck with a six-year ADR midpoint was purchased on November 1, 2005 for $10,000.
 - A machine with an eight-year ADR midpoint was purchased on May 15, 2005 for $14,000.
 - The corporation uses S/L with a half-year convention for book purposes. (Book useful life is the ADR midpoint.)
- Land (investment property > 1 year) was donated to a qualified charitable organization that had a fair market value of $60,000 and a basis of $10,000. (Assume that the corporation expensed the $60,000 for book purposes.)
- Interest used to purchase the municipal bonds amounted to $20,000 for 2005.
- Life insurance received upon the death of an officer amounted to $200,000.
- Dividends received from an 18 percent owned subsidiary amounted to $20,000.
- Assume Adjusted Current Earnings (ACE) is also $400,000.

Requirements: Based upon these facts, calculate the following:

1. Taxable income for 2005 and the associated tax liability.
2. Alternative Minimum Taxable Income for 2005.
3. Tentative Minimum Tax Liability for 2005.

FEDERAL INCOME TAX RETURN PROBLEM

On January 2, 2004 Soxy Lady, Inc., a calendar year C corporation, was organized with a capitalization of $2,000. During its first year of operations it had a loss of $12,000. For the year 2005, operations look a bit more profitable. The following information is extracted from the books and records of the company.

	Accounting fees	8,000

1-14 Income Taxation of Corporations

During the year, an automobile was purchased that cost $12,000 with an estimated life of four years. The company wants to use modified ACRS depreciation. The MACRS computation for depreciation is already included in the above figure of $10,000. Assume an election to waive bonus depreciation was properly filed.

II.	Beginning Inventory	$ 9,000
	Purchases	100,000
	Cost of Labor	120,000
	Miscellaneous Cost of Goods	8,500

7. b. $[$280,000 + $34,000] @ 10 \text{ percent}$.
8. c. $$5,000 + $1,000$ but it is limited to 10 percent of $$40,000$.
9. e. $$360,000 + $100,000 - $500,000 - $80,000 = $120,000$.
10. e. All capital loss carryovers and carrybacks are treated as short-term losses in the year to which carried.
11. d. Generally, pension plan deductions reduce both book and taxable income.
12. b. Capital losses can only offset capital gains.
13. d. 10 percent of $($100,000 + $12,000)$.
14. c. $$5,000$ of the loss in 2003 and $$3,000$ of the loss in 2004 was used in 2005; therefore, the remaining $$7,000$ loss from 2004 carries forward until the five-year period expires.
15. c. The 80 percent limitation on taxable income does not apply to this problem because the corporation has a net operating loss.
16. a. The 70 percent of taxable income limitation applies.
17. d. 70% of $$35,000$. The other limitation adds to or creates an NOL.
18. c. Members of an affiliated group can deduct 100% of dividends from other members.
19. c. Tax on first $$100,000 = $22,250 + 39\%$ of $$200,000 = $100,250$.
20. b. $$600,000 \text{ T.I.} + $15,000 ($ 1245) + $18,000 \text{ (Net Capital Gain)} = $633,000$.
